

Modern Slavery Could Happen Anywhere

- Whether it's forced labour, domestic servitude or human trafficking, modern slavery is more common than you might think.
- People with learning disabilities are at risk of being forced into modern slavery, as they are often isolated in their communities and ineligible for support services.
- It can be difficult to spot the signs of modern slavery. For a guide to what to look out for, visit anncrafttrust.org/ModernSlavery

Modern Slavery is a serious crime. If you think someone is at risk, call the police on 999 to report your concerns.
